Remembering the sacrifices of Canadians

Lesley Allan Western Review

As a school community, Eborado Elementary and Drayton Christian took the time to show their appreciation for the sacrifices of Canadian soldiers and veterans as they held a special Remembrance Day ceremony on Nov. 7. Inviting parents, teachers, and other members of the community, the two schools recited poems, sang songs, performed a short play, and listened to veteran Andy Maine share his stories and experiences.

Voters to have lots of choice on election day

Candidates gearing up for the Nov. 17 by-election in Yellowhead

MINIKA LUNA
Western Review

Two of the candidates who are running in the Nov. 17 by-election may have different platforms, but one thing both the independent candidate Dean Williams and Libertarian Party of Canada candidate Cory Lystang have in common is that they want a break from the Conservative government.

Dean Williams, who is originally from Whitecourt, said he decided to run independently because this keeps him free from all parties and he is able to do what he would like to see.

"An independent vote can prove to be very influential. Because I think what I see is a three way split," said Williams last week.

Libertarian candidate Cory Lystang decided to run to bring freedom to Canadians after the party caught his attention about a year ago.

"I am running. It's time we bring freedom, legalize freedom again," said Lystang in a recent interview.

"To bring power back to municipal and provincial government. I discovered this party a year ago and I wanted to make a difference, see if I could get in there and bring back voice to Albertans," he added.

There are a total of five candidates to choose from in the by-election in the Yellowhead riding. In addition to Lystang and Williams, Ryan Nagaha is running for the Liberals, Jim Egliniski is running for the Conservatives and Eric Rosendahl is running for the NDP.

Lystang said people should choose his name on the ballot because it is time to hold the Conservatives accountable.

"It has become extremely clear to me that our current government has lost touch with the reason that it exists. Redundant laws, huge spending and outright violations on our rights as Canadians, with no apparent accountability had almost driven me away from politics. Until I stumbled across a party with a message that said everything I felt, less government, lower taxes and more freedom, The Libertarian Party of Canada," said Lystang in an e-mail.

Williams said he feels there is a lack of transparency with the current government. He went to film school and has professional experience as a cinematographer. He compared the Yellowhead MP's job to what he has been doing most of his life.

"I have spent a good portion of my life observing and listening to people and putting it on screen and this is the job,

Dean Williams (Independent)

Cory Lystang (Libertarian Party of Canada)

Party leader Tim Moen that Lystang sent in his e-mail. Williams too makes it clear that he is not satisfied with the current government.

"From the dismantling of Canada Post, to perpetually proroguing parliament, over-focusing our interests and economy, spending billions of dollars that can't be accounted for, ignoring expert warnings on issues ranging from weather and environment to economic diversity and free trade with China," says his website.

To read more on these two candidates go online to yellowhead.ca and libertarian.ca.

listening and reflecting constituents to the parliament. Listen and reflect, that's the job," he said.

He said his platform includes a list of issues including veteran affairs, national security, transparency, temporary foreign workers and health care.

"In reality, we haven't had such disgrace in our Parliament ever before. When our veterans have to picket and protest outside of shuttering Veterans Affairs offices or government buildings, practically begging to be treated properly. Something is wrong," says Williams via his website yellowhead.ca.

When asked the meaning behind the name of the website he said yellow signifies it is independent and that should be the job of an MP.

"I've chosen to carry a yellow banner into this election to signify an independent voice for the people of this riding. Free of partisan whips and hooks. Yellow for Yellowhead," says his website.

"Yellow for Yellowhead means just that. A proactive and in-touch MP that does the job as it's meant to be done. By listening and reflecting," it states.

Lystang is opposing the Harper government's redundant laws.

"The idea, why should firearms be illegal if it's already illegal to kill? It's laws like these which nobody understands. Firearms in the right hands are tools, not weapons, police have them," he explained.

"If you don't like what someone is doing or what they're saying you don't punch them, you talk in a civil manner. You don't want to hurt someone, not because it's illegal but because it's not right. We believe government should operate the right way, as we do like people," he added.

Lystang grew up on a cattle ranch south of Mayerthorpe and is currently a Canadian National Firearms Association member.

When applied consistently you get a government that protects individuals instead of controlling and taxing them. If you are tired of big government and status quo politics you'll find our party a breath of fresh air. There's a reason we are the fastest growing party in Canada," states a message from the Libertarian

Council approves amendment to MHO definition

4 to 3 vote approves amendment to Home Occupation
"Major" definition

Lesley Allan
Western Review

During the Nov. 4 regular council meeting, councillors approved proposed amendments to the definition of the Home Occupation "Major" (MHO), a change that has been highly debated and the cause of much controversy throughout the municipality.

In a 4 to 3 vote for both the second and third reading of the amendment, the majority of councillors went against the recommendations of administration that suggested all changes to the Land Use Bylaw (LUB) be discussed and presented as a complete document.

"We wanted to make sure that this could be brought forward along with a slew of other items that are going to be brought up and addressed properly through public consultation and a review of the documents before it was finalized by council," explained Benjamin Misener, planning and development manager for Brazeau County. "Over the course of the LUB review, which has a November to May time frame as it stands right now, people would have been given more than enough time to really get their hands dirty and dig into the issue, ask questions and be able to walk through it with consultants and other planners to make sure we got everything right."

According to changes approved last week the definition for MHO now goes as follows:

"Home Occupation 'Major' means the secondary use of a principal dwelling (and/or accessory buildings) by a permanent resident of the dwelling unit to conduct a business activity which does not change the residential character of the dwelling and/or accessory building(s), does not employ more than twelve (12) employees concurrently. The maximum number of permitted vehicles is four (4), with associated trailers, up to a maximum of six (6) in size. A Major Home Occupation may exhibit outdoor storage of vehicles used for the business but other equipment and building materials must be screened from view."

According to Div. 5 Councillor Anthony Heinrich, who voted in favour of the amendments, the changes made last week are something that has needed to be done for a long time and was not made prematurely.

"We're already put the people through more than two years of having to live with a situation that was incorrect and isn't working in this County, meaning the two trucks, one ton maximum," he said. "So in order to get on with our statement that we keep saying to the public, 'we're open for business,' we can't be living up to that statement when we keep leaving regressive definitions in the way and we're pushing people into operating illegally. We can't keep doing that and expect people to be happy with the decisions of council."

Heinrich also claimed that previous changes made in 2012 were not fully understood by council at the time and that mistakes were made. "The last council, when we changed the bylaw or had it rewritten in 2012, did not direct or this definition of MHO to be changed, that was then in the bylaw 474-04," he stated. "The consultant and staff component ended up making this change. As well, when speaking for me personally as a councillor, I had not authorized that change, council had not authorized it in way of a motion, and therefore I figured I shouldn't be looking for that definition change. Obviously it was changed and we missed it and therefore the current definition that's in our bylaw, that's dated as of 2012, is inadequate."

Acknowledging that mistakes were made by previous council when it came to the definition, Brazeau County Reeve Pat Vos said that an issue as complicated as the MHO should not be discussed as a separate entity from the rest of the LUB, which is one reason why she voted against the proposed definition amendment. "I agreed with the administration's recommendation that we wait to do this as a part of the total LUB overhaul," she shared. "It's a decision that's very controversial. It's caused a lot of conflict in our community, and I think it needs to be part of the bigger picture with the opportunity for all members of the LUB to have input at an appropriate time. I know that's already gone on before, but we've agreed to do that again."

Both Vos and Misener shared that they have already had numerous residents of the County express concern over the changes that were made, including individuals who had made a point of attending the public hearing that was held prior to the amendment approval on Nov. 4.

"People are disappointed with the decision," said Vos. Acknowledging that MHOs are a natural part of rural municipalities, Vos said that not taking the time to fully discuss documents as a whole "creates inconsistency" and in the past has proven to make matters worse.

Despite the changes that were made Nov. 4, Misener stresses the importance of all residents getting involved with future discussions of the LUB as issues revolving the MHO are far from over. "When the LUB comes up for review the entire LUB is under review, whether it's an amendment that was made on Tuesday or it was something that was done back in 2012 when it was first brought in," he shared. "The whole thing is going to be opened up for review so there is the possibility that there could be more changes that occur to both the MHO section and other areas of the LUB."

"I would say with any business or resident that they take the opportunity to review the LUB, or call us with questions, and take the time to get out to the public consultations that are going to be occurring," Misener said. "It's vital that we have public feedback because as it's shown, for example on Tuesday (Nov. 4), without enough feedback you can run into issues. You're never going to make everyone happy, but it's better to try and make as many people happy as possible because with this document it's supposed to work for everyone whether that's residents, business owners, council members, or administration. We all need to be satisfied with this document at the end of the day because it's the only [administration] implement[s], the one council passed, and the one that needs to work for our residents."

Vos echoed the importance of residents making their voices heard when it comes to all aspects of the LUB, explaining that council wants nothing more than to make this document, and all others, work for the municipality as best as they can. "We're committed to creating an effective Land Use Bylaw, effective Area Structure Plan, and effective Municipal Development Plan," said Vos. "We're committed to creating a workable set of documents that are easily applied consistently, that makes a point that Brazeau County's open for business... but that reduces the conflicts between neighbours."

Man sentenced to federal time

25-year-old gets three years for break and enter

Clifford Whalen
Western Review

A 25-year-old man will spend the next two years of his life in prison for his involvement in a break and enter where a man was seriously injured after being shot. Aaron Rowan was initially facing seven charges related to the Jan. 18 incident and was set to go to trial. However, last week Rowan instead pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering to a dwelling house.

Last week the Crown said that on Jan. 19, Rowan had met up with Clinton Kostiw, who believed another man owed him a drug debt. At the time Rowan agreed to accompany Kostiw to the man's home to help him collect on the debt. The court heard that both men were under the influence of meth at the time. Around 5 a.m. on Jan. 19, Rowan and Kostiw attended the home and broke in. Kostiw was carrying a rifle and threatened the resident of the home while Rowan stole a number of items from the residence. As some police Kostiw discharged his firearm, striking the man in the leg and seriously injuring him. Rowan fled.

Crown Prosecutor David Clifton told the court last week that the man who was shot has already undergone surgeries for his leg and continues to suffer from health issues related to it. He also said it was "quite apparent" that the outcome of the incident was beyond Rowan's understanding of what was going to happen when he agreed to help Kostiw recover the debt he believed he was owed. Rowan was arrested and charged in relation to the break and enter, theft and shooting in February and has been in custody since that time.

Clifton said Rowan was not armed when he went to the resident and it became clear that someone being shot and injured had been "beyond his contemplation."

The Crown and defence attorney Darin Slaferek presented the court with a joint submission for three years plus one day in jail with credit for the equivalent of one year spent in pre-sentence custody. The result of the two years plus one day would ensure Rowan was sent to federal penitentiary. Clifton said all parties involved in the case were seeking the federal time so Rowan can avoid himself of addiction treatment in the institution.

Slaferek said the issue at the root of Rowan's criminal activity is addiction.

"The issue is drugs and alcohol," he said, noting when Rowan is clean and sober he is viewed as a valuable employee and that he has the ongoing support of his family.

The joint submission was accepted and Rowan was sentenced to three years and one day in jail with credit for the equivalent of one year in pre-sentence custody. He will be required to provide a DNA sample. The remainder of the charges were withdrawn by the Crown.

Kostiw was sentenced to seven years in jail for his role in the incident at a court date in May.

This is a public notice advising landowners in the above area that the Council of the Town of Drayton Valley has received an application to rezone the lands municipally described as 4847-54 Avenue, which would change the land use to allow the creation of a fourplex.

PLAN 170 KS
EXCEPTING THEREOUT ALL MINES AND MINERALS

FROM: R2-General Residential District
TO: R3-Medium Density Residential District

as shown on the accompanying map.

A copy of the Bylaw may be examined at the Civic Centre during regular business hours. ## COMMUNICATION TOWER

During the regular council meeting on Nov. 4, council gave first reading to Bylaw 854-14 to designate lot B and C, Block 1, Plan 1989KS as Public Utility Land. The proposed lot designation would allow for the proposed communication tower for Cystaria to be erected and would have it located near the Solar Aquatics facility (SAS). The SAS plant is located on Lot 18 and the proposed tower will be located on Lot C. A public hearing for the designation has been scheduled for 10:00 a.m. on Dec. 2.

Council also gave first reading to Bylaw 852-14 proposing Lot B, Block 1, Plan 1989KS within part of S25-10-W5M, approximately 8.6 acres (3.5 hectares) be redesignated from Light Industrial District (L1) to Urban Reserve District (UR) to accommodate the placement of a Brazeau County Communication Tower. A public hearing for Bylaw 852-14 is scheduled at 10 a.m. on Dec. 16.

ENHANCEMENT PROJECT

Council passed a motion to acquire Lot 27 from the Birchwood Cdn Association and proceed towards the future site for a playground. On May 7 members of the Birchwood Enhancement Project Commitee attended council requesting assistance in funding for playground equipment. According to Brenda Christie, director of corporate services, when administration last touched base with the group they had raised $11,000 for the project.

REDISTRICTING
Council passed second and third reading for the proposed redesignating part of Lot 8, Block 3, Plan 1989KS within S25-10-W5M, approximately 1.4 hectares (2.1 acres), from Light Industrial District (LIC) to Recreation District (R). The redesignating is to accommodate a possible expansion of the existing RV Park/campground in Cystaria.

MAJOR HOME OCCUPATION
Council approved second and third reading by a four to three vote passing Bylaw 851-14 proposing the amendment to the definition of Home Occupation "Major" (MHO) within Section 10- Glossary and an amendment to Section 4.10 (5) of the Land Use Bylaw. For more on the MHO definition amendments see pg. 4.

EASTFORD HALL

A delegation from the Eastford Community Centre attended the meeting to report that the centre is struggling to keep going and the group is seeking the option of demolishing and selling the facility. Highlighting that many halls are facing a very similar reality, the community centre shared that the annual general meeting, taking place on Nov. 17, would be a determining factor in how the society moves ahead in the future.

RIVER VALLEY PLAYERS

A delegation from the River Valley Players made a presentation regarding the theatre group's upcoming show, The Sound of Music. Highlighting past work the group has done, the delegation shared about the excitement of the musical presentation but explained the costs associated with it. Council passed a motion to support the group with $2,500 to assist with the production.

REZONING
Council passed a motion to authorize Brazeau County CAO March Schoeninger to negotiate and endorse accordingly, the following three agreements as it related to the Eleanor Pickup Arts Centre (BAC) Offer to Purchase, Joint Ownership Agreement and Lease Agreement.

MEETINGS

The next regular Council meeting will be held Dec. 2 and Dec. 16. The regular council meeting of Nov. 18 is cancelled due to the AGM/DC Convention. 2015 Budget meetings are scheduled for Nov. 24, 25, 26 and 27 at 8 a.m.

All Council meetings are open to the public.

Take the time to learn about next week's by-election

Many people in our region are heading to the polls on Nov. 17, although it may come as a surprise to some of you.

Next Monday residents in the federal Yellowhead riding will be casting their vote to elect a new Member of Parliament to represent their interests in Ottawa. One of two by-elections being held (the other is in the riding of Winnipeg-Oakdale in Ontario), the date has approached quickly and left only a short time for candidates to be nominated and start campaigning. The by-election was called just a little more than a month ago.

The candidate elected in Yellowhead will replace long-serving MP Rob Merrifield, who quit his federal post to take on the position as Alberta's envoy to the United States.

The short timeline has meant less time for candidates to get their names out to constituents and less time for constituents to become familiar with platforms. In total, five candidates have put their names forward for consideration: Jim Iginig for the Conservatives, Ryan Magellan for the Liberals, Eric Rosenfeld for the NDP, Cory Lyngberg for the Libertarian Party of Canada and Dean Willis, running as an independent.

For some of these candidates this year's by-election may serve as a test run, since Canadians will be going to the polls next fall to elect their federal representatives. And those running this time around will face another challenge down the road, come next fall the boundaries for the Yellowhead riding will be changing.

The by-election also causes challenges in finding ways to motivate local voters. The fact that none of the candidates are from the Drayton Valley/Beaumont area makes the whole exercise seem removed from us, along with the fact the representation will only be for a short period of time before voters are once again asked to cast ballots.

It would be easy to let this by-election slip past with little notice, but it's important not to. Regardless of the length of time before the federal election, the person voted in on Monday will act as a voice for Yellowhead and as a point person for constituents to direct their concerns or questions to. Even though there may not be much face-to-face campaigning happening in this area, there is still time to get at least a cursory knowledge of who the candidates are and what they say they stand for.

Take some time this week to go online and read up on the various platforms in order to make an informed decision when you mark your X on Nov. 17. For more information on the by-election and to find out where you go to vote go online to www.elections.ca.

It's heeereeee!

We all knew it was coming sooner rather than later. In fact, many of us were surprised it wasn't here two weeks ago.

I am, obviously, talking about the blanket of white that now covers everything, including the sheet of ice on every road. Of course, the foreknowledge that winter was coming does not mean we were in any way prepared for it — myself included.

For a few weeks now I have been thinking to myself, "When, you should load your winter tires up and get them put on." But as day after day of moderately nice weather appeared I kept putting it off.

I am now in the same boat as I suspect many others are — sliding through every intersection and hoping I can get enough traction to clear the small snow drifts that are forming. I will now join the lines of people waiting for local shops to catch up with all the work winter idios like me are throwing their way.

I have no one to blame but myself, so until such time as I'm able to get sufficiently

There and Back
Courtney Whalen

roadworthy! I will be limiting my driving to what is absolutely necessary and filling my spare time with bemoaning the cold and the snow.

I am perfectly aware that we live in Alberta. I am perfectly aware that we get winter here and we get it with a vengeance. But since that means I'll be spending the next six months dealing with it, I feel entitled to take some time to shake my flut at it. Call me a whiner if you want, tell me I should buck up and embrace it, if you must — just don't do it to my face.

Winter does have its joys, I know. But right now, as I look out at my once-again snow-covered car and contemplate having to get in it and drive home, I can't quite put my finger on what any of those joys might be. I'll get over it. I'll have to. We all will. However, for these first few weeks, when last week's sun and warm temperatures are still a fresh memory, I think we can all be forgiven a heartfelt groan or two.

On the plus side, slippery sidewalks are guaranteed to provide some moments of levity as people try in desperation to walk normally, all the while barely holding onto balance and covertly cursing at the sight of anyone attempting to see if anyone is around to watch if they finally lose the battle.

Also on the plus side, more hot chocolate! And hopefully a nice blanket of snow to lend a festive air to the upcoming Christmas parade on Nov. 21. I won't promise this is the last time I'll bemoan the cold, or the snow, or the extra energy expended trying to wrestle with the zipper of my winter coat and shove my feet into chunky winter boots. It would likely be a lie. I do, however, promise to tell you if the person who loses their battle with balance on icy sidewalks is me.

No no hold the decorations

Another holiday has come and gone and we head toward the next, what's more festive than a heated debate about candy canes, lights and old Sater "Nicks."

From the time this column comes out there will be 43 days until Christmas and will be Remembrance Day. Recently we have seen a great debate happening on all levels of society about whether or not it is appropriate or disrespectful to start putting up decorations for Christmas prior to Remembrance Day.

Personally, I feel like Christmas is becoming more of a topic than a holiday as every year brings a whole new wave of people who are declaring something is offensive on behalf of people who are not necessarily getting their opinion out there to be heard.

Are Christmas lights and inflatable reindeer really a sore spot for those who fought for the freedoms we have today? Are those who continue to fight for freedom in our global community belittled by day elves and rocking around the Christmas tree?

Personally, I do not feel that the one has anything to do with the other. I mean can't we not be excited for the holidays without sacrificing their appreciation for the sacrifices of others?

Now this doesn't mean that I'm running out into my shed to drag out my Christmas decorations, personally I think it's too early to start putting up decorations that will sparkle and shine in my house throughout the holiday season.

Lesley's Lessons

season.

My decorations go up the beginning of December when I have a weekend free to take the time to dust the house, unpack boxes and repack them with items that get packed away while seasonal greetings welcome all those that don't make the trip to my home.

Despite the fact that I believe it's too early to start decorating for the holidays, I understand the excitement individuals and families can feel when it comes to Christmas. It is after all the biggest holiday in North America, as well as the biggest cash cow for retailers.

What I don't understand is how a wreath on someone's door is seen as offensive towards someone who is in reality not even going to know it is there.

Like I stated earlier, does someone's decision to decorate and begin to celebrate the holiday cancel out their ability to appreciate the selfless acts of others? What I deem as more disrespectful ful is the fact that the majority of area residents get Nov. 11 off, as it is a provincial holiday, yet only a couple hundred actually take the time to attend local ceremonies.

Every year I go to the Remembrance Day ceremonies held at the cenotaph here in Drayton Valley, some years for work and some years for personal reasons.

I myself have family who have served and continue to, my father-in-law and cousin currently serve, while my uncle has retired.

There are many others who have connections to the military, some attend ceremonies and some do not, that's a personal decision and a right they have in the freedom that was brought to this country through the sacrifices of others.

So I ask this, what's more offensive, a string of lights and plastic reindeer, or 10,000 people not taking the time to recognize our veterans, or taking the time to say thank you?

Is it more offensive to spend days before decorating your house and buying Christmas gifts, or is it worse to spend the day hunkered in your home playing Call of Duty not wanting to face what is often chilly temperatures?

The reality of it all is that those who have gone to war fought for our freedoms and deserve our respect, but at the same time belittling someone for the fact that they hang up a wreath goes against everything veterans fought for and continue to fight for.

opinion Remembering the resiliency and courage of soldiers

Aim for Success we have dedicated the past six years to supporting children and youth to be mentally healthy and to be mentally resilient through difficulties. But during this time of the year I am reminded of the extreme difficulties and challenges that our soldiers faced.

Remembrance Day was specifically dedicated by King George V on Nov. 7, 1919 as a day of remembrance for members of the armed forces who were killed during World War I. During the First World War on the 11th day of the 11th month in 1918 the guns of the Western Front fell silent after more than four years of continuous warfare. Today we continue to remember our fallen soldiers and their bravery and courage.

Both my grandparents fought during World War 2 and my granddad Frank fought in both Italy and France. After he returned from the war, like many others he didn't share liberally about what he experienced, but one story stuck with me.

My granddad — Frank Blundell — was part of the British forces in France and also fought in Italy during the latter part of the war and was present during the capture and hand over of Mussolini. However, in June 1940, after the fall of France, he was one of the more than 331,000 allied forces that were trapped along the coast of Northern France. The situation of the troops who had been cut off from their advance into France by a pincer movement from the German army, was reported by the British Prime Minister Winston Churchill as the greatest military disaster for centuries. It appeared likely to cost Britain the war. The country vulnerable to invasion by Germany. Because of the shallow waters, British destroyers were unable to approach the beaches to rescue the stranded soldiers.

On 27th May, the small-craft section of the British Ministry of Shipping telegraphed boat builders around the coast, asking them to collect all boats with "shallow draft" that could navigate the shallow waters of France. Some of them were taken with the owners' permission while others were requisitioned by the government with no time for the owners to be contacted. The boats were checked to make sure they were seaworthy, fuelled, and taken to Ramsgate to set sail for France, in what would become known as "The 700 little ships of Dunkirk." When they reached France, some of the boats acted as shuttles between the beaches and the destroyers, ferrying soldiers to the ships. Others carried hundreds of soldiers each back to Ramsgate, protected by the Royal Air Force.

Frank and his comrades arrived on the Dunkirk beach as one of the last sections of the British army and by this stage most of the ships were already on their way back to England. However, together they remained resilient and without giving up hope, they managed to find a local fishing boat. They commandeered the small craft and sailed it alongside the Royal Navy destroyers all the way back to Ramsgate in England. In a story of extreme difficulties they stayed afloat, stayed together and in a hopeless situation never lost hope.

In nine days, 192,226 British and 139,000 French soldiers were rescued by the 700 little ships and around 220 warships. The rescue operation turned a military disaster into a story of heroism, which served to raise the morale of the British.

I was in describing the success of the operation to the lowest of Carman on June 4, 1940 that Churchill made one of his most famous speeches: "We shall go on in the end, we shall fight in France, we shall fight on the seas and oceans, we shall fight with growing confidence and growing strength in the air, we shall defend our island, whatever the cost may be, we shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall fight in the fields and in the streets, we shall fight in the hills; we shall never surrender."

The phrase "Dunkirk spirit" is still used to describe courage and solidarity in adversity. This Remembrance Day I will be remembering the courage of Frank and the many others who gave their lives and showed such mental resilience and courage.

RCMP, Crown field questions at public meeting

Sgt. Chris Delisle and Crown Prosecutor Christine Palmer field questions from local citizens

Courtney Whalen
Western Review

When it comes to crime there is one key thing every resident can do to help keep it in check: report, report, report.

That was one of the main messages that Drayton Valley RCMP Sgt. Chris Delisle passed on to the residents who attended a public information session on Nov. 4. The meeting, which also had the participation of Crown Prosecutor Christine Palmer, was the second hosted in Drayton Valley in the past few months. Delisle decided to host the meetings as a way to open dialogue with the public, to hear their concerns and answer their questions.

Over the two meetings Delisle took questions on everything from increases in crime and how the police respond to it, to the prevalence of drug and prolific offenders.

After last week's meeting was over Delisle said he expects those questions and welcomes the chance to address them.

"I personally like those hard questions," he said.

Those questions also allow RCMP to put crime statistics in context, said Delisle. It's also a chance to address misconceptions or misinformation about crime that can spread quickly via social media.

It was some of those misconceptions that prompted him to host the meetings in the first place.

For those simply looking at statistics Delisle said it will show that numbers are up in certain types of crimes. However, that doesn't necessarily mean there's an increase in crime, but more likely an increase in people reporting crime to police.

Throughout last week's meeting Delisle stressed the importance of residents calling in to report what they see, or if they are the victim of crime.

"The more we know, the better it is," he said.

It may not lead to suspects or arrests in every case, but the information helps give the police a bigger picture of what's happening in the area.

"The information you know, the rumours you hear, these are the things we need to know," he told attendees at the MacKenzie Conference Centre.

In response to a question from the audience regarding stolen property Delisle said the goal that police are trying to fill in is determining just when criminals are going to get rid of their stolen property.

He also stressed the importance of working together as a community to prevent and address crime. The RCMP have been working with local rural crime watch groups as well as the local Citizens on Patrol group to add eyes and ears to crime watch in the community. His next step will be reaching out to industry to get them involved, as well, he said. Then everyone can move forward with increased crime prevention.

"As a group — RCMP and the community working together to find out what is happening in the community," he said.

For last week's meeting Delisle also invited a Crown Prosecutor to answer questions residents have about what happens once suspects are arrested and what they can do to protect their property and themselves, similar to a meeting held earlier this year in the Violet Grove area.

Christine Palmer, who formerly practiced law in Drayton Valley prior to joining the Crown Prosecutors' office, was in attendance. "It was good to have her out there to provide that information on how the judicial system works," said Delisle.

Palmer informed residents on how sentencing is determined, all terms and the importance of having witnesses willing to testify.

"It's great to have forums like this because we can hear your concerns and try to answer them," she said.

When it comes to protecting yourself and your property, Palmer said members of the public have the right to protect themselves, but cautioned that any action has to be one that would be viewed as reasonable in the eyes of an observer.

"Whatever you do has to be done proportional to what's happening," she said.

Unless there is immediate danger to an individual or their family, she said the best course of action is to call the police and get as much detail about the suspect or suspects as possible. Detailed information is 'imperative,' as is protecting personal safety, she continued.

Both Palmer and Delisle noted that alcohol and drug addictions are the major contributors to crime in the area and an increase in the availability and accessibility of programs designed to deal with those problems are important prevention measures.

They noted that both RCMP and the Crown must operate under the legislation set out by the government. Changes to laws must come from advocacy to politicians.

Delisle said his goal over the past 10 months has been working to connect all aspects of the community so they can work together, with RCMP to increase crime prevention and reporting.

Let's work with the tools we have," he said. "Us as a community — how can we address this?"

He told those gathered at the meeting that if there was the desire to host another public forum in six to eight months he would be willing to come back and answer more questions.

As the meeting was wrapping up one of the attendees thanked Delisle for taking a proactive role in the community, working to keep people informed and address their concerns.

Local home destroyed by fire

Recent news items from the Drayton Valley RCMP detachment

Drayton Valley
Western Review

Local RCMP are not investigating anything suspicious in relation to a house fire in the Violet Grove area on Nov. 5. Around 8:15 p.m. that night RCMP were called to the residence on Township Road 482 where the Drayton Valley (Business County Fire Services were fighting the residential fire.

Drayton Valley RCMP Sgt. Chris Delisle said everyone made it out of the home safely. In the wake of the fire the community has rallied around the Adamkowski family, who lost everything in the blaze. For more information on how to help search Love & Support for the Adamkowski Family on Facebook.

THIEF UNLINED

Police have not recovered four guns that were reported stolen on Oct. 29. The guns, three of which were registered, were taken out of a holiday trailer in the Tomahawk area.

With hunting season meaning guns are likely to be more prevalent, Drayton Valley RCMP Sgt. Chris Delisle said hunters are encouraged to take extra precautions with their firearms to safeguard them from theft. It's also important that those transporting and storing restricted guns know the proper rules.

Guns must be stored unloaded and locked and if the firearm is not in a locked container ammunition is to be stored separately.

Guns must also be unloaded when being transported. If your gun will be unattended in a vehicle it is to be stored in the trunk, unloaded. If your vehicle doesn't have a trunk, the weapon is to be locked and not visible.

As an extra precaution Delisle suggested the use of a trigger lock.

ELECTRONICS

THEFT UNWANTED

Loss prevention officers at the local Walmart were able to recover merchandise after a man attempted to steal approximately $8,000 worth of electronics.

RCMP were called around 4:55 p.m. on Oct. 29 after a man had attempted to leave the store with the unpaid for goods. The store's loss prevention officers gave chase and the suspect dropped the bag of electronics before leaving the scene in a silver car. The merchandise was recovered.

Police are looking for any information on the attempted theft.

CASH STOLEN

Police are investigating after getting a report of a residential break and enter around 3 p.m. on Oct. 31.

The resident of a home on 52 Ave. contacted police after noticing the back door had been kicked in. The only item that appears to have been taken in the break and enter was an envelope containing a quantity of cash.

Last week RCMP said they had a suspect and the investigation was continuing.

LIQUOR NEEDED

Drayton Valley RCMP were able to obtain video surveillance in two separate instances of theft of liquor from a local store.

In one instance, four women entered a liquor store on 50 Ave. and after purchasing a case of beer, staff noticed they had stolen approximately $600 worth of booze. Last week Drayton Valley RCMP Sgt. Chris Delisle said police will lay charges once they identify the women from surveillance footage.

That's also the case in the second instance. Police were called again by a liquor store on 50 Ave. later in the week, after a woman walked into the store and stole a quantity of liquor.

FOG CONTRIBUTES TO COLLISION

Heavy fog is believed to be a contributing factor in a two-vehicle collision that was reported around 6:10 a.m. on Oct. 30 in the area of Hwy. 620 and Bangor Road 84.

A semi was pulling onto the highway and saw the headlights of an oncoming vehicle through the fog after already beginning to turn. The driver of the semi attempted to speed up to avoid the collision, but was not quite able to. A pickup truck struck the back of the semi.

IMPAIRED DRIVERS NABBED

On Nov. 1 around 9 p.m. police received a report of a man who appeared to be intoxicated in a vehicle that was parked in front of the swimming pool. RCMP attended and the man was taken into custody on outstanding arrest warrants. He was also taken back to the detachment for a breathalyzer test, where Sgt. Chris Delisle said he blew more than double the legal limit.

Then, on Nov. 2, police received a call about a suspicious impaired driver. They were able to conduct a traffic stop on 50 Ave. near McDonald's on the suspect vehicle and driver. The driver was showing signs of impairment and was arrested and taken back to the detachment for a breathalyzer test.

THEFTS CONTINUE

On Oct. 29 police were called after a Jeep was broken into and damaged. At the same location a green BMW bike was stolen. The thief(s) used cutters to get through the chain that was being used to secure the bicycle, which had already had its seat stolen previously.

On Oct. 31 police received a report that a Harley Davidson 2013 Road Glide was stolen from the Poplar Ridge area.

Chains were cut so thieves could steal two ATVs from a lease site in Branson County. The theft of a green Honda and a silver Kymco, was reported to RCMP around 8 a.m. on Nov. 3.

Later that day, around 11:40 a.m., RCMP received the report of another theft of an ATV. This ATV, which the complainant had borrowed from his son, was stolen from a site in the Lodgepole area. A chain was cut so the culprit could gain access to the silver 2010 CanAm Renegade.

NO SOURCES FOUND FOR REPORTED GUN SHOTS

On Nov. 1 police were investigating reports of gun shots after a resident of 43 St. called around 7 p.m.

Drayton Valley RCMP Sgt. Chris Delisle said police attended the neighbourhood and talked to the complainant and other residents of the area. While others said they had also heard loud bangs, officers were unable to locate anyone with firearms, or any changes in the area.

At this time police are speculating the source of the noise may have been fireworks.

Injuries reported in quad collision

News from the Drayton Valley/Brazeau County Fire Services

Courtney Whalen
Western Review

Serious injuries resulted from a quad rollover that occurred on Nov. 1. Around 2 p.m. the Drayton Valley Fire Services were dispatched to the area of Hwy. 620 and Range Road 91 to what they initially believed was a motor vehicle collision. What they found was a quad rollover. One patient was airlifted to hospital by STARS, while another was transported by ambulance to the Drayton Valley Hospital.

That injury collision was one of six calls for service received by the Drayton Valley/Brazeau County Fire Services between Oct. 28 and the afternoon of Nov. 5.

On Oct. 30 around 6:30 a.m. emergency services were called to Hwy 620 and Range Road 84 where foggy conditions look to have played a role in a collision between a pickup truck and a semi trailer. The pickup truck remained the semi.

Things were a little steamy in a local incident on Nov. 1 when a build up of the moisture set off the residential fire alarm. The fire services attended and found it was a false alarm.

Around 6 p.m. that same day firefighters worked to establish a landing zone for STARS after the fire department was called to assist EMS with a patient who had sustained a severe laceration to his leg.

On Nov. 2 around 9 p.m. a call came in about a possible grass fire in Brazeau County. When firefighters arrived they discovered the source of the fire was actually a garbage pile that had been set ablaze. Fire Chief Tom Thomson said crews worked to remove grass and other items from the perimeter of the fire and then informed the owner he needed to extinguish the garbage pile.

The final call for service in the seven-day period was called in on Nov. 4 after a vehicle struck one of the guardrails located at the entrance to the Omniplex. No injuries resulted from that incident.

WINTER IS COMING, DON'T BE CAUGHT BY SURPRISE
The area has managed to avoid a blanket of snow to this point, but everyone knows it's on the way and Drayton Valley/Brazeau County Fire Services Fire Chief Tom Thomson wants drivers to be prepared for when it arrives.

When travelling in the winter, whether on long trips or just a short jaunt from home, it's a good idea to be prepared for any eventuality, from breaking down on the side of the road to going into the ditch. Among the items you should include in your winter car/truck kit are:

- A small shovel - in case you need to dig yourself out;
- A windshield scraper and brush or broom - to clear your vehicle of frost and snow;
- A flashlight - either carry a wind up flashlight or include extra batteries. Thomson said batteries can be stored inside the flashlight backwards until you need to use them to keep them from being drained;
- Pack bottled water in a container that won't crack or freeze. It's also advised to carry snacks such as granola bars in case you are stranded for a period of time;
- Matches and a candle in a deep container;
- A first aid kit, a pocket knife, blanket or sleeping bag, booster cables and tow chain or rope;
- A bag of sand or non-chumping kitty litter to provide traction in icy conditions;
- Some kind of emergency flare or lighting to alert passersby of your location;
- Cell phone and a whistle;
- Pack your winter boots and make sure to bring extra mitts, hat, etc. In case yours get wet.

Thomson said for those who have serious medical conditions it is a good idea to have your medication with you so you don't find yourself in a situation where you're stranded without the medication you need.

It's also a good idea to have a battery operated radio you can listen to if you're stuck. That will lessen the need to have your engine running or have the radio in your vehicle on, draining the battery.

Carrying a winter car kit is a precaution, with the hope that motorists and passengers will never have to use it. However, in case the unexpected does happen, there are a number of things those involved should keep in mind.

Thomson said the most important thing for those who go off the road to do is to try and stay calm and avoid getting out of the vehicle and walking to get help, as winter conditions can quickly become a safety risk.

"Your car is a good form of shelter," he noted. If you decide to try and shovel your way out of the situation be careful not to over-exert yourself, especially for those with health problems, or who are older.

Although the instinct might be to keep your vehicle running as much as possible if you are stuck and waiting for aid, Thomson says it is best to keep the engine off as much as possible. Use the blanket or sleeping bag in your winter car kit to keep warm with the help of the candle (in a deep container and placed away from flammable items like the blanket). If you are going to have your engine on, it is vitally important to make sure the exhaust is not blocked by snow or other debris. If you leave the vehicle running with the exhaust blocked, a potentially deadly build up of carbon monoxide could occur. That's why it's also a good idea to leave one of the windows open a bit, to ensure no gas is building up, even if the car is off and it's just the candle burning.

To try and make your vehicle more visible Thomson suggests turning on the ceiling light.

"The village is low enough that it won't kill your battery that quickly," he said. Before setting out on winter roads Thomson said it's always a good idea to let others know when you're leaving and the route you're going to be taking.

Man receives sentence for disobeying curfew

Being out during a set curfew has resulted in jail for 25-year-old man

Courtney Whalen
Western Review

MAN FAILED FOR DISOBEYING CURFEW

Being out during a set curfew has resulted in jail for a 25-year-old man.

On Oct. 25, Drayton Valley RCMP attempted to check on Jason McGlin to make sure he was abiding by a court-ordered curfew. They checked two separate apartments. He was not at either one and police could not locate him.

On Oct. 28 a call from a member of the public during the course of a separate investigation led police to locate McGlin, who was arrested and charged for the breach.

The Crown was asking Judge

K.E. Tjosvold to consider a sentence of 45 days in jail, noting it's not the accused's first brush with breaching court conditions.

The defence was asking for 30 days.

The judge sentenced McGlin to 35 days in jail, noting he was taking into account the fact that McGlin had already spent the equivalent of 10 days in jail before pleading guilty.

WOMAN GIVEN ONE DAY FOR POSSESSION OF STOLEN VEHICLE

Two week Nyssa Minde pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of stolen property valued at more than $5,000.

On Aug. 14 around 6 p.m., Drayton Valley RCMP officer in plainclothes noticed a vehicle on 50 St. that appeared to have its license plate deliberately covered. The officer then observed a number of people walking away from the vehicle, leaving a lone occupant inside.

When uniformed officers arrived they determined the vehicle had been reported stolen out of St. Albert 11 days prior. They approached the vehicle and found Minde in the driver's seat.

Duty counsel James Arends said the 23-year-old was not involved in the theft, but given a number of other details, should have realized it was stolen.

Last week she was sentenced to spend one day in jail on the charge, but it was deemed to be served by her attendance at court on Nov. 4.

WITNESSES DETAINED DRUNK DRIVER

A man was fined last week after pleading guilty to driving with more than the legal limit of alcohol in his system.

Jun Desrosiers was arrested on Aug. 20, 2012 after police received a call from a woman who said a driver who appeared to be drunk had almost hit herself and her child. Other witnesses at the scene prevented Desrosiers from leaving before police arrived.

RCMP arrived and spoke with Desrosiers and arrested him for impaired driving. When he was taken back to the detachment for a breathalyzer test his reading was 190. The legal limit is 80.

Last week the 33-year-old was given a $2,000 fine, as well as a lesser fine after pleading guilty to failing to appear for a trial date that had been set for the charges.

FINE FOR POSSESSION OF DRUG

A man will pay fines totalling $1,500 after pleading guilty to three charges last week in Drayton Valley Provincial Court.

Justin Handbury pleaded guilty to possession of a weapon, possession of a controlled substance and breach of a probation order.

On Oct. 8 around 9 a.m. Drayton Valley RCMP saw Handbury driving a motor vehicle, which they knew he was not to be doing. When they conducted a traffic stop they observed several glass bong, with what appeared to be drug residue inside.

When Handbury was arrested, police found approximately five grams of methamphetamine in his possession as well as finding a can of bear spray in the vehicle accessible to Handbury from the driver's seat.

The 26-year-old was given a $1,000 fine on possession of the methamphetamine with lesser fines for the other two offences.

MAN NARROWLY MISSED STRIKING RESIDENCE

A man pleaded guilty to driving with more than the legal limit of alcohol in his system last week, in relation to an incident earlier this fall.

Around 2:20 a.m. on Sept. 12 a 9-1-1 call was received reporting that a vehicle had almost hit a residence before coming to a stop a few feet away. Police arrived to find Adrian Bremner, who had been the driver, beside the vehicle and smelling of alcohol.

He was arrested and taken back to the detachment for a breathalyzer test where his reading was 190. The legal limit is 80.

Last week the 26-year-old was issued a $1,500 fine and a one-year driving prohibition.

Huskies take second in volleyball regionals

Lesley Allen Western Review

Despite the dropping temperatures outside, things were heating up in the gymnasium at H.W. Pickup as the Huskies hosted the S/A/J Zones on Nov. 8. Competition during the round robin kept all teams on their toes with fairly even results, but as finals started to get closer the competition got stiffer and the Huskies, as well as their competition, showed their skills and talent on the court, as well as sportsmanship off. The gold medal game saw the Huskies go up against Hilltop Chargers from Whitecourt who took the game leaving the Huskies to receive the silver medals.

Thunder take win in shootout

Despite bad weather keeping people off the roads, local residents and dedicated Thunder fans still made their way to the Omniplex on Nov. 8 to catch the team as they went up against the Canmore Eagles for their second home game of the week. For those who made their way out for the game, they didn't go home disappointed as the teams kept it tied at 2 through regulation and overtime until the Thunder's Jamie Waddington secured the win with the sole goal in the shootout. The win was the Thunder's second of the week after they shut out the Lloydminster Bobcats on Nov. 6. The Thunder play at home on Nov. 11 against the Grande Prairie Storm before heading on the road again next weekend. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Frank Maddock Warriors in their very first 12-man game at the beginning of the season. The Warriors struggled to find a win this season, but spent the time building their skills for 12-man football.

Warriors remain positive

Warriors will benefit from having majority of players returning for next season

Western Review

"We got to know the game. It is pretty different than the nine-man and six-man leagues that we have been in the last couple of years. But we got to learn how they play. We got to kind of see the size, see the skills, the strength level in regards to other teams," he explained.

The 12-man league was also new to the coaches.

"For us as coaches, it took us a while to get a feel for the game, various processes on how it is that we adapt some of our players that may not necessarily play at that specific position, we are going to have to throw them in that position anyway because we may not have those bodies/back ups in order to make sure that we still have 12 guys on the field," he explained.

Only four players out of 38 on the team graduate this year, which means the team will be able to carry forward all the lessons they learned in the season with many of the same players.

"Just because we have another year, they have gone through the learning experience, they know exactly what it is that they need to do now, that they have to practice hard in the off season. They have to do those work outs and things like that so they can make themselves stronger and faster," he said.

The team will prepare for its off-season workouts, which includes going to the gym as winter approaches, which will help players be stronger and faster.

Going forward into next season, the coach was positive the team will only get better.

"The fact that we're very optimistic about next year with the amount of returning players, with the guys that now have some experience under their belt, with the new work out programs and off season training that they will go through in the year, sky is the limit, I think, for our team," he explained.

For the next season, the team will be looking for coaches and referees.

"There is always, of course, a need for more coaches, individuals that will like to take some training to become referees, everybody who is interested in that can get ahold of me at the high school," he said.

Try-outs for next season will be in May.

"We are always looking for big guys, guys with size. Of course I can teach skills, I just can't teach size. I can't make kids bigger, so of course big kids, anyone who is fast, anyone that has good hands, those are the kind of guys we will be looking for," he explained.

Defence fizzles in DV loss

Loss highlights areas where team needs to improve

Western Review

A loss for the DV Youngmen is making the team realize they need to work hard on their defence moving forward in the indoor season.

Last week the Youngmen lost to Serbian White Eagles 2-4, making it two losses in a row for the squad.

Heading into the game the Youngmen were looking to see the team's new players were able to skate the team had scored on at practice. With a full bench players were playing short shifts and keeping the tempo high.

The White Eagles took advantage when the Youngmen failed to clear the ball cleanly out mid-way through the first half and the additional time when the team passed more than 100 yards. The DV team was on a gain slapping in a worked.

Outstanding scorer Dan (Pawel)owski got one back for the Youngmen to keep them within one heading to the break.

Mike Dahms tied it up with a header in the second, but it wouldn't be enough to keep the White Eagles at bay.

"Despite the halftime talk, just as we did the game before, our defence were not and allowed Serbia to regain the lead," said Kelly.

Despite trying to press an advantage and a solid offence, the Youngmen couldn't put together a cohesive unit on the pitch.

"The offence were doing their jobs well, but a lack of trust in the back end meant our midfield stayed too far back and were too late when entering the offence," he said.

The White Eagles netted their fourth and final of the game seemingly unchallenged in the Youngmen box, he noted.

The team will turn its focus to shoring up the defensive play.

"Our forwards played smart, and our keeper was sharp, but we are in desperate need to restructure our defence," said Kelly.

The team will get a boost when players Kai and Maxen Haymour return after serving a suspension for an altercation at the end of the outdoor season.

This week the Youngmen will try and regain some winning momentum when they come up against Punjab, who are struggling this season.

Special to the Western Review

A Tale of Two Rivers

The Two Rivers Beef Club is back in action! My name is Cora. The beau and this is my second year in 4-H. I'm the Club Reporter so I get to deliver our news in you each month.

This (October) was a very busy month for us. We have five leaders Leah Thebeau, Shelley Reith, Melanie Cabert, Trish Muckerman and Ken Rogers. We even have a bigger club than last year! We have 20 kids!

This month we had our first meeting on Oct. 5 that included games, elections and a Choose Your Project workshop.

We had our bottle drive on Oct. 18, but if we missed your place and you want to donate, call Leah at 780-514-9775. On Nov. 2 we had our weigh-in and in my opinion that's a fine bunch of beef we're raising for show day!

Stay tuned for our next edition of A Tale of Two Rivers!

DVCF marks two decades

Event celebrates 20 years of DVCF and its place in the community

Courtney Whalen
Western Review

"Without a sense of caring there can be no community."

With those words, spoken to a group of more than 250, Drayton Valley Community Foundation Chair Alex Blais summed up how the community foundation began, how it has reached 20 years and how it hopes to continue to support the community far into the future. "You're all here tonight to share in this caring," he continued.

Last Thursday night Drayton Valley Community Foundation board members were joined by grant recipients, former board members and supporters to celebrate the organization's 20 years.

From its beginnings, struggling to establish a foothold in the community and garner understanding and support from donors, to its first endowment fund and grant recipients to today as a multimillion dollar organization that has more exciting things on the horizon, the Drayton Valley Community Foundation has come a long way in two decades. Last Thursday night was termed a night of gratitude by the foundation, as it thanked those who worked as volunteers and those whose generosity has helped bring it to a place where it has put more than $2.5 million back into the community through its endowment funds and the flow-through funds it manages for other organizations.

"Tonight is an exceptional night for our foundation in the community," Blais said in his address.

As much as the night was about celebrating recent successes, such as a corporate campaign that saw 20 businesses donating $10,000 each for a total of $200,000, or a recent endowment of $200,000 from the Inneson family of Tomahawk, or the gift of the former Pembina Educational Consortium building, it was also about looking back on the work that went into getting the foundation this far.

Arlene Reid, who was elected the first chair of the newly-incorporated foundation, talked about those first few years. The idea for the foundation came through discussions with community leaders and the Town of Drayton Valley, she remembers, leading to an application for incorporation being filed on Nov. 10, 1994.

Looking back, Reid said she believes one of the reasons she was drawn to be part of the new undertaking was that it was something new and unique, with the ability to have long-lasting impact. Those early years involved a steep learning curve and a lot of hurdles, she remembers, noting it was a number of years before the foundation was in a financial position to start distributing money back to the community.

Foundation future looks bright

DVCF from pg. 26

So looking out on the room last Thursday, seeing the supporters and grant recipients, was a happy sight.

"It's very impressive. It's kind of overwhelming," she said.

There have been many people involved over the past 20 years who have worked hard to get the organization to this point, she noted. Chief among those are Jeanette Vatter, who for years worked on a volunteer basis as the community foundation's executive director. Rob Fedema, too, has been along for the two-decade ride, from being one of the signatories on the application for incorporation, to continuing to provide financial services today.

Last week a number of grants were handed out and those in attendance were introduced to a new initiative — the Community — which sees local businesses donate money back to the foundation on specific goods or services they sell. It shows how the foundation has come a long way in these early days.

"It's established itself. It's sold itself to the community and the community is getting involved," said Reid.

However, she knows it's not an achievement that happened by chance.

"We couldn't see that future coming," she said of where the foundation is today. "And it's taken a few key people giving back."

While all donations are important, Reid noted that there have been members of the community who have supported the foundation again and again to make sure it continued to strive to reach its potential.

Former board member Mary Prentice, who took on the role of Chair after Reid, sees the foundation as playing an important role in fostering the generosity that is often seen in the area.

"It can't help but create a spirit of philanthropy in the community," he said.

He joined the board of the Drayton Valley Community Foundation in 1996 and remembers those early days of trying to build understanding of what the foundation did.

"That was always an issue we dealt with," he said, noting the first few years were also dedicated to building governance and getting a handle on the learning curve of operating a foundation that not only has its own endowment funds but also manages flow-through funds for other organizations.

Although the flow-through funds don't add to the foundation's principle, Prentice believes they played an important role in helping the Drayton Valley Community Foundation raise its profile.

He said he believes the people he served with during his time on the board always hoped the foundation would find its footing and become the organization it is growing into today. He sees it as an important piece of the community, where individuals, families or businesses can support what they love, where they live.

It's your foundation, it's my foundation, it's my daughter's foundation.

— John Mulligan,
DVCF Board Member

"It's a vehicle for people to provide a means of channeling philanthropic money they have to an area they support," he said.

That was a key factor for the Mulligan family when they set up an endowment fund in memory of their daughter Jennifer.

John Mulligan was already a member of the foundation before the Jennifer Mulligan Memorial Scholarship was established, but said what drew him to the foundation in the first place was the ability for giving back to the community on an ongoing basis.

"What I liked about it was the fact that we could give back to our communities through an endowment fund," he said.

Donations to endowment funds remain untouched, but the interest generated through them is granted back to the community. Mulligan said that means even as boards change, the endowment funds continue to provide money in the area the families or organizations that established them intended. In the case of the Jennifer Mulligan Memorial Scholarship Fund, that's education and in particular tutoring.

Mulligan said his daughter embraced the benefits of tutoring, which allowed her to excel in school. When she died, the family wanted the endowment fund in her name to help others in the same way.

"It is truly the heart of family values, the endowment fund," he said.

Last week he said educating the community about how they can contribute to the Drayton Valley Community Foundation has always been a challenge. He encouraged members of the community to look at the various ways to donate, from life insurance and will bequests to cash donations or the gifting of securities.

As well as investing in the community, the Drayton Valley Community Foundation gives people the opportunity to leave a legacy.

"It's just a fabulous, fabulous thing," he said.

"The community is the community foundation. It's your foundation, it's my foundation, it's my daughter's foundation."

The current Chair also has a personal connection to the foundation. It was in memory of Amy Blais that the Drayton Valley Community Foundation established its first endowment fund in 1996 when funds from the Amy Blais Golf Tournament were used to start the Amy Blais Memorial fund.

Alex Blais has continued his connection with the foundation and he sees good things in the future.

Much of that can be attributed to the hard work of volunteers who have served the community foundation, as well as the support of the place he calls home.

"It's the greatest place in the world," he said of Drayton Valley. "It's a very giving community. It doesn't matter what it is."

But in his address to the room Mayor Glenn McLean noted that the foundation should be celebrated for what it gives back to the community, as well.

"Wherever the need the community foundation is there to help fill that need," he said.

Popular musical with familiar faces

Local version of Sound of Music is almost ready to go live

Western Review

Bring tissue when you come to watch the Sound of Music at the Eleanor Pickup Arts Centre later this month. That is the advice cast and crew are sharing with their audience.

"We found a couple of people who we could all work together as a team to make the show happen. It is very exciting for us to see it grow and come to light on stage. I am ecstatic, I am overjoyed, I cry at every rehearsal," said Allie Spicer-Ries from the River Valley Players Association, who is the production manager for the musical.

"She isn't the only one who will be up watching the rehearsals of the musical, the cast members and the director do as well."

The Sound of Music is taking place in Drayton Valley for the first time with a local crew and cast members. Some have made this a tradition running all the way from Alder and Warburg.

It's been stressful. It's been exciting, and absolutely awesome. It's hard to get everybody at the same time to practice. We have to juggle around, people having work commitments, other commitments, so we have only had probably six rehearsals with the whole cast here. But at least now, as you can see today, it's starting to come together," said director and choreographer Joanne Nelson at a rehearsal on Nov. 1.

Sound of Music cast members include everyone from adults to children, performing on stage with singing, dancing and acting. "Most of the cast members were cast due to their voices, like the main characters, all the children, Maria and Captain. We chose them because of their voices, not so much because of their acting ability or their dancing ability. But as you see, it's coming," said Nelson.

Music Director Andrew Farrow said the cast is stepping up to the challenge every day.

Maria Lulla Western Review
The Sound of Music cast met on Nov. 1 to rehearse the musical with input from the directors at the Eleanor Pickup Arts Centre.

"It's a lot of fun. Everybody is a volunteer so everybody who is here wants to be here. We're putting in, some of these guys, 10 plus hours a week, so it's a huge undertaking," said Farrow.

"It is a three hour musical, so that means half the time we're singing and half the time we're speaking. So it's a little different than putting on a play where you just have to memorize your lines and go on cue. Now you also have to memorize your lines and harmonize with people, coming at the right time, watch your director, make sure everything is in the right place, so it's extremely technical," he added.

SAVE UP TO $2,000 MORE EVERY YEAR.

Sound of Music rehearsal continues as the show date nears. ABOVE: Maria walks down the aisle with the children, who are happy to see their father, Captain von Trapp, get married to their governess.

Rehearsals continue

MUSICAL from pg.30

Despite all the effort and volunteering, the cast is happy to be part of a big project.

"I play Maria von Trapp. It's a lot of fun. I enjoy this. It's an opportunity of a lifetime to play a role in this iconic musical and what an amazing cast, directors, music directors, and the kids, the captain, everybody has been wonderful. Lots of time, but so rewarding," said Heather Nivelle, who was initially auditioning to be one of the nuns.

"I have a number of years of experience singing and I think I was kind of born as an actor to a little degree. I just enjoy acting. I actually auditioned but didn't plan on being such a major role. I was auditioning to be one of the nuns and then one of the directors asked me to audition for Maria," she added.

14-year-old Julia Flett plays Fredrick and said it is interesting to play a role in another gender.

Both Vankommen, who is 15, plays the role of Liesl in the musical and says she feels awesome to be part of the production.

The youngest member of the musical also plays the youngest member in the play. Great. "It's pretty usual. Because I have three older brothers so it's not much of a difference," said Tyane Wiese when asked how she feels playing the youngest.

Ian Griesler, who is the only male actor amongst the children said he is not intimidated as the only male among his Sound of Music siblings. More difficult is donning the more reserved demeanour of his character.

"It feels pretty cool, really, really different because I am usually crazy at school and stuff. I am always the clown kid, but with Kurt, he's not like that. He's more disciplined so I have to take my craziness inside of me and shove it in and just not show it, which is pretty hard for me to do," he said.

Jason Colby plays Captain von Trapp in the musical and says he has been involved with singing in Drayton Valley before. He was cast in Grease, a local musical a long time ago.

"Grease was big. They believed that there wasn't a musical done before, but there was. But it was years ago. Very few remember," he said.

The hope for the show is to be able to put away a chunk of money towards making the next musical.

"We had lots of sponsorships obviously, because the expenses for this show have run beyond because we have never done a musical before. I mean, you will have to pay for royalties and the venue and things like that. But really we are so grateful to our community sponsors. Without them, we wouldn't have been able to put it together. This is going to be probably around about $12,000 to 15,000 to put this show," said Spicer-Ries.

Tickets for the show are $20 for adults and $10 for child and are available at Value Drug Mart in Drayton Valley and at Drayton Family Hall in Drayton. The show runs Nov. 20, 21, 22 and 27, 28 and 29.

IF YOU KNOW THAT THE COUNTY OF DRAYTON COUNTY, YOU KNOW

Petitioners have been circulating in the County for the past 20 days to ask for your signature on a petition to get a corporate review of the operations of Brazeau County Council. As you know, the corporate review is conducted by the Minister of Municipal Affairs to investigate the operations of the County Council. In support of this initiative, the following County actions should be kept in mind:

DID YOU KNOW that one County Councilor travelled to Charlottetown PEI for a Sustainability Communities Conference costing us approximately $4200; two Councilors and the CAO went to Niagara Falls for a Federated Canadian Municipalities (FCM) Conference for approximately $15,000. You can check their expense journal on the County web site. Can we not network within the province for common rural concerns?

In addition to the above conferences, the September 4th meeting with the town and facilitator Gord McIntosh cost $8100 (County share). We were not provided with a cost for the Joint Meeting on September 3rd with Gord McIntosh, but it seems reasonable to assume that it would also cost about $8100. The September Retreat in Caroline, Alberta (Sept 17, 18, 19) was about $17500. Their five days cost us about $25000.

DID YOU KNOW the County has signed another agreement with the Town for snow removal for the annexed area on a full cost recovery basis (Council Highlights September 16, 2014). Does this mean that priority is given to the annexation area over our rural roads? Or is this just another form of "cost sharing"?

DID YOU KNOW that there are 7 members on the Ag Service Board—2 of whom are Councilors. Is it necessary to have 7 members?

The youth of Ag Service Board Members have the privilege of attending Ag conferences at County expense. This is well and good for those few whose parents happen to be members of the Board. Should not this privilege be available to any interested youth in the county on an equal opportunity basis?

DID YOU KNOW that (as we understand it) 7 houses in the County Club Estates were given gold mix pavement—without making a request? And no tax assessment! The rest of us have to pay for dust control.

DID YOU KNOW that Section 197 (1) of the MGA states that "... all meetings of council and committees must be open to the public ...". The ALL does not mean SOME, OCCASIONALLY, or IF I FEEL LIKE IT. There are also advertisement rules that apply. What part of the word ALL do they not understand?

DID YOU KNOW that a corporate review requested by petition is the only way that we citizens can ask the Government to monitor our council. The Government does not enforce its own Municipal Government Act unless there is a petition to do so.

Care to sign the petition? Think you have been missed? Call Lynn or Garry.

The Earth Rangers were at schools in Drayton Valley last week as part of their tour to 600 schools in Canada during this school year. During a visit on Nov. 6 students at St. Anthony School were introduced to an armadillo and a peregrine falcon, among other creatures. Students learned about the various creatures and the importance of protecting them and their habitat.

Opening doors to community

Lesley Allan Western Review

Nov. 4 had an open door policy at Rotary House in Drayton Valley as the user groups that call the facility home welcomed the community and spent the evening connecting with area residents of all ages. From a barbecue to lots of giveaways, the night was meant to show Drayton Valley that Rotary House is there for the entire community and not just those who work within.

With the cold winter weather approaching, we would like to remind H.W. Pickup students and their families that you can help senior citizens in our community. The Drayton Valley Family and Community Support Services' program "Snow Angels" allows students to partner with seniors in the community and help them by clearing their sidewalks from snow. If you are interested in helping with this wonderful cause, please contact FCSS at 780-514-2008.

League volleyball wraps up this week for all teams. We would like to congratulate both boys' teams and the senior girls for making it to league play offs. Also to the junior girls for a successful season. All teams played excellent and your hard work paid off. We would also like to thank the coaches, Mrs. Hutchinson, Mrs. Petrie, Miss Gushue and Miss Prusko for their time and commitment with the teams.

Do you like making Vines, Instagram videos, or YouTube videos? Introducing H.W. Pickup's first ever film festival. Submit a video anywhere from six seconds to 10 minutes long. It can be animated, a short skit, a documentary, a bite or skate-board edit, something unusual or new, a funny piece, or a film done as a team. As long as it is school appropriate, it's up to you! After the deadline is met (Dec. 5), all submissions will be reviewed and the top five will be presented at the monthly assembly on Dec. 11. After they are all watched, students will vote on their favourite video. The overall winner gets two free movie tickets, and the satisfaction of knowing they are the best filmmakers in the school. Please send all submissions to Mrs. Gallant (shannon.gallant@wvcd.ca) or Kegan Colwell (kegan.colwell@gmail.com), and good luck!

A reminder that server orders must be placed first thing in the morning to receive saturday. You cannot try to buy food at lunch as there will not be enough outside of the orders placed.

Students have no school on Nov. 21 as this is a school PD day. From 1:00 to 1:30 p.m. on Nov. 20, Report cards will be going home this day as well.

EDUCATION

Eldorado students were treated to an author visit courtesy of Pembina Crisis Con-tion Society in recognition of Anti-Bullying Week. She was an interactive storyteller and the students were engaged and mesmerized by her storytelling. It was a day of red and white as students recognized Remembrance Day at their return visit from Earth Rang.

Also on Nov. 7, we had a service visit from Earth Rang. Their presentation, complete with live animals, encouraged students of all ages to learn more about our environment and how we can help to bring back the wild. More information is available at <http://www.earthrang.org>.

Swimming lessons for November are:
SHM - NOV. 12, 13, 17, 18, 19 from 1-2 p.m.

In September, Grade 5 students participated in a unique study from the University of Guelph called the School Malaise Trap Program. Students became research assistants for DNA bar coding of insects by trapping flying insects for researchers to analyze. As they wait for the results of their "catch" – species and numbers – students have predicted the possible catch volume in other regions of Canada, too! You can follow all of the excitement at <http://malaiseprogram.ca>.

On Nov. 3, students at Evergreen were treated to remarkable stories told by Renee Englot. Her presentations were engaging and involved students in conversations related to issues of peer pressure, bullying, harassment and friendship. Because Anti-Bullying Week is fast approaching (Nov. 17-21), Renee's stories helped us to consider how we can help people who are being harassed.

On Nov. 5, students from our Evergreen Math club participated in MathFest, which was held in Edmonton. During the past couple of months, Math Club members prepared and practiced problem-solving puzzles, and their work was shared at MathFest along with other students from our province.

To finish off our busy week, Evergreen held its Remembrance Day Ceremony on Nov. 7, led by Grade 6 students. Local RCMP Officers, Constable Leche and Constable Ulanowicz, attended along with our students, parents and community members.

Also on Nov. 7, we had a service visit from Earth Rang. Their presentation, complete with live animals, encouraged students of all ages to learn more about our environment and how we can help to bring back the wild. More information is available at <http://www.earthrang.org>.

ST. ANTHONY

Thank you to the Royal Canadian Legion and members of the Drayton Valley Air Cadets for joining us at our Remembrance Day Assembly held on Nov. 6 in the school gym.

The Earth Rangers were at St. Anthony School, with a live animal presentation on Nov. 6. Students from all grades were taken on an educational adventure to learn about some of the planet's most amazing creatures and their habitats.

Grade 1-6 students were blessed to have professional storyteller Renee Englot, come into the school on Nov. 5.

Parent Teacher Interviews will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 25 and Thursday, Nov. 27. Please visit <http://stanthony.schoolappointments.com/> to register. The site will be open for bookings from Nov. 19 to Nov. 24. Please take this opportunity to find out how your child is doing in their new grade. We look forward to seeing you and your child.

St. Anthony School's last book fair will be held Nov. 24-28 during school hours from 9 a.m. – 3 p.m. and from 4-7 p.m. Nov. 25 and Nov. 27 during parent/teacher interviews.

The Shark Park is creating a quilt to be auctioned off at the Winter Wonderland. If you have any flannel sheets you would like to donate, we would greatly appreciate you dropping them off at the office.

Looking for a quality program to care for your child? Look no further!

Boys & Girls Club of Drayton Valley offers quality programming in a licensed out of school care program, run by caring and qualified staff. What will your child do in the program? There is a wide range of activities, including centres, stories, snack, outdoor play, games, crafts, dramatic play, cooking, and free time! Organizers say there has already been great feedback from those already registered in the program. Often, the kids don't want to leave!

Worried about the cost? The cost is $310 per month (with the cost going down to $20 for each additional child). If you need to you can apply for full subsidy from the government (similar to how you would for day care). Staff work from 3-6pm with the children each school day. And full day camps held on weekdays when there is no school (8 a.m.-5 p.m.) are included in this cost. (This excludes statutory holidays, of course.)

Only need childcare on PD days?

If you are only interested in the full day camps as mentioned above, have no fear! You can register your child for a cost of $35 for a single day. The program will start accepting day camp registrations a week prior to the day that you give us a call!

The next full day camp is Friday, Nov. 21. We will celebrate National Child Day by having a "play day," which this year has the theme "It's our right to play!" The program hopes to go swimming and engage in all sorts of play. Hope to see you there. Please contact the Boys & Girls Club of Drayton Valley at 780-514-3400.

News from the Shark Park: Running Club will have their feet quickly moving on Mondays from 3:30-4:30 p.m.

School Council News and Notes: The next School Council meeting is Nov. 17 at 7 p.m., baby-sitting will be provided. We are currently collecting silent auction items for our Winter Wonderland Fair, so if you have something or know of someone that would like to donate, please drop items off at the office.

St. Anthony School Savings Cards are once again available at the office. On the back of each card you will find exclusively negotiated discounts within Drayton Valley and online. Each card sells for $20. With discounts potentially valued at well more than the $20 donation, simply using the card one or two times will save each card holder a great deal of money over the year.

Important reminders: Our school doors will open at 8:20 a.m., registration and prayer will begin at 8:35 a.m. and dismissal will be at 3:09 p.m.

All messages need to arrive at the main office before lunch hour. This way we can make sure that your child gets this message without being disrupted from their class and ensuring they receive the message before the end of the day. Only in cases of emergency will we call your child out of class.

Staff welcomes opportunities to meet and discuss your child's program, but do not interrupt classes to speak to your child's teacher. Please leave a message at the office for the teacher to call and make an appointment.

Please ensure your child has weather appropriate clothing and footwear with them every day. An extra set of clothes is always a good idea to have in their backpacks.

Office hours are 8 a.m. – 4 p.m. Parents, please make sure you call the office or e-mail kerrie.lemer@wvcd.ca or if your child will be late or absent. If you have reached the answering machine please leave a message as staff are unavailable to answer the phone.

In Memoriam

In Loving Memory of
Gordon Charles Schneider
Father - Grandfather & Great grandfather who passed away Nov 15 2011

The moment that you left us,
Our hearts were broke in two
One side filled with memories
The other side went with you

I love you & I miss you
Wish we could talk awhile
If only you were there with us
We'd love to see you smile

I often lay awake at night
My cheeks, wet with tears

Even though you're out of reach
Your memories keep you near

If I could have one life time wish
A dream that could come true

I'd ask with all my heart
For yesterday and you

Always Loved & Forever In Our Hearts
Lori & Family

SUDOKU

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numbers clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle.

Keep your family fire safe

Plan ahead to make sure your family can get out safely

Special to DM Agency

When we think about the accessibility of a home, we usually think about design features that allow people of all ages, sizes and abilities to get into and around the building independently—whether through ramps, stairs, wide doorways, railings or adequate space to navigate around furniture and appliances.

But accessible housing design also means being able to get out, sometimes quickly, in an emergency.

Seniors and people who have disabilities are more likely to be injured in a fire, so ensuring that all of your family and guests are safe requires some preparation.

The first step is to understand the accessibility needs of anyone likely to live in or visit your home, as safety often depends on different types of ability. For example, a standard smoke detector depends on being able to hear it; also, ignore standard assistive devices depend on power that might not be functioning during a fire.

Keep in mind that planning for your family and all guests should take into consideration the abilities of your family members. Smoke detectors are necessary in every home. Some smoke detectors feature alternative signals such as strobe lights or vibration, which are important if a household member is hearing impaired. While many people are able to remember to dial 9-1-1 in an emergency, taking the extra step of programming this and other emergency numbers into your phone, or enabling automated voice dialing, could assist family members who have difficulty with dialing or remembering numbers.

Older people who need emergency communication in the event of a fall or emergency should consider obtaining a personal monitoring system, whereby they can press a button on a wireless pendant or bracelet to summon help. This is especially useful for older people who live alone, since FIRE SAFETY on pg. 53

Plan your escape and then practice it

FIRE SAFETY from pg. 52

Ideally, everyone in your home should be aware of the evacuation plan and be able to evacuate the building independently—but conditions in a fire emergency are not ideal, and some people might require assistance to evacuate. For these reasons, it's important to plan your escape routes in advance of an emergency and develop techniques to ensure that every person, regardless of his or her needs, can get out of the building safely. These plans might involve a "buddy system" or pairing people up to meet at a designated location, or for assistance. It may involve guiding a person who cannot quickly navigate the home alone.

Keep in mind that assisting someone in an emergency is not easy. It requires clear communication, and may require more than one person, especially if a wheelchair is involved. For these reasons, it's important to practice evacuation techniques, know the roles of others involved in the evacuation, and have "backup" people ready to help so that in case of a real emergency, you are prepared.

For more information, Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC) has an About Your House fact sheet called Accessible Housing Design—Fire Safety for You and Your Home. Download your free copy at www.cmhc.ca.
